Undergraduate retention is calculated by establishing two cohorts of students entering/enrolled on the 14th day of a specified fall term. The two cohorts are: First-Time Undergraduates and New Transfer Undergraduates. Students are classified as retained if they are enrolled on the 14th day of the subsequent fall term.